Welcoming the New Year: Reflecting on Memories of 2014.

thelifeofmine3.wordpress.com/2022/03/01/2014-new-year-and-memories/

March 1, 2022

In 2014, during the New Year, I wished everyone on Facebook and received calls and wishes from Papu, Keerthi, Pradeep, Komala Akka, Dawood, and Prince. On January 23, I prayed to God, asking to be spared from bed sores, infections, and hospital visits for the next three months. I prayed for good health and to be free from any health issues.

At home, Amma and Appa were having arguments, and Prici was facing difficulties at school. It made me feel the need to leave home to avoid being in that situation. I asked Amma to drop me off somewhere, and we both ended up crying together.

During that time, Periamma and her family visited Hosur. I expected Pradeep to introduce them to me. When he came home on February 2, everyone had gone to church. After they returned, I introduced Pradeep to my family. From that point on, various events unfolded. Amma asked him to help me with my studies, and she held him responsible for my grades dropping. After Pradeep left, Amma discussed him and his family with Periamma, mentioning that Deepa, his sister, looked beautiful.